

President of Latvia continues his treatment

 Published more than 9 years ago

Published: 26.01.2016.

In view of the disease and underwent heart surgery, doctors succeeded in stabilizing the general state of health of the President of Latvia and guiding the latter into the recovery process.

In order to ensure the treatment that would fit the nature of the disease best, the President of Latvia currently continues his treatment in the intensive care unit. Doctors will decide on the transfer of the patient to the ward following the results of the examinations and tests, and assessment of general state of health.

The President of Latvia communicates with doctors and his beloved ones, and he receives visits of his relatives. Initiated physiotherapy has become an important element of the recovery process.

Doctors continue to monitor and control the situation closely by means of regular tests and additional examinations. This process has involved a multidisciplinary team of physicians.

Related topics

Raimonds Vējonis

<https://www.president.lv/en/article/president-latvia-continues-his-treatment>